

Stairwell Access in Highrise Workplaces

To support a healthy workplace environment, physical distancing measures are in place that include reducing occupancy in elevators. As an alternative to elevator use, stairwells may be used to exit the building. There are some exceptions where customers with card readers may use stairwells for floor access, or other access methods can be identified as long as their usage complies with building security and fire safety requirements.

To discuss stairwell access to your floor, please contact the Customer Resource Team. Requests will be handled on a case-by-case basis.